

Rodger Blow Obit

Rodger Allen Blow, 61, of Crookston, MN, died Wednesday evening, December 12, 2007 at the Riverview Hospital in Crookston. Rodger was born on March 31, 1946, at Grafton, ND, the son of Thomas and Myrtle (Ganyo) Blow. As a young child he moved to Crookston with his family. Rodger was a 1964 graduate from Crookston Central High School. Shortly after graduating, Rodger joined the Army National Guard and he served honorably for a few years. On June 28, 1968, he was united in marriage to Dorothy Mae Schear, Crookston. Rodger worked as an over the road truck driver for most of his life and also worked for area farmers. He was last employed with Transystems Inc. Rodger had received a number of safe driver awards and was the driver of the year while working with Transystems in Crookston. He was happiest when spending time with his family and he loved hunting and fishing with his kids and grandkids. Rodger was well known and well liked by all who shared in his life.

Loving family members include his children, Katherine (Roberto) Ibarra, Barbara (Joseph Rodney Goulet) Blow and Michael Blow all of Crookston, MN; grandchildren, Jessica, Thomas, Allen, Kyla and Kaylynn; brothers, Marvin Blow and Darrel (Linda) Blow, all of Crookston; special friends, Judy Wassenar and Dorothy Blow, both of Crookston; and nieces, nephews and other relatives. Rodger was preceded in death by his parents, Thomas and Myrtle; brother Leonard Blow; and his father-in-law, Laurel Schear.
